

Kay Kocher

My interest in painting started at a very young age.

When I took a series of oil painting classes, I realized how much I enjoyed painting. However, I did not discover my real passion until I took a watercolor class. In 2002, I attended classes taught by Rita Visser. I continued to grow and experience new techniques through her teachings for nine years.

I am a member of the Toledo Artists' Club, Athena Art Society and the Northwest Ohio Watercolor Society. As a member I have had several of my paintings in shows and received numerous awards. American Gallery is also a place where you may see my paintings. Watercolor has allowed me to be creative and express myself in so many ways. I am also excited to continue painting, enjoy my work and to try new techniques.
