

VIRGINIA KRETZ

ARTIST

Virginia has been painting nature in an impressionist style for many years. Her primary medium is gouache on illustration board. She begins her paintings on location and finishes them in the studio.

Virginia has studied with local instructors as well as at the University of Toledo and the Toledo Museum of Art School of Design. She has also attended many one-week workshops with nationally-known artists, authors and teachers. Her award-winning work has been included in many local exhibits. She received a purchase award from the Toledo Federation of Art Societies exhibit at the Toledo Museum of Art.

Virginia's work may be seen at the American Gallery in Sylvania and the Toledo Artist's Club.
